Kiss Your Coal Stove Goodbye!

The gas stove has the coal stove beaten a million ways.

No wood to chop, no coal to carry, no ashes to take up, carry out, and sift, leaving a trail of dirt and dust from the stove all the way out to the ash pit.

No fire to coax and coddle. No excess heat. No waste.

Gas is a guarantee of the right kind of a fire instantly for any purpose whatever; and it's more economical, too.

R. W. TRIBBLE TO PUT BIG REDUCTION SALE

Entire Stock of Up-to-Date Goods
Will be Sold at Greatly
Reduced Prices.

Tomorrow morning promptly at the stroke of nine the entire stock of R. W. Tribble, the up-to-date clothier, will be thrown on sale without any reservation whatever.

This sale is occasioned by the recent fire which started up stairs over the store, but which, in reality, did not damage the stock of goods but very little. The fire never reached the main stock down stairs, but a little water trickled down on a small portion of it. There was some smoke damage, and rather than sell goods that were damaged in the least as perfect goods, Mr. Tribble is throwing his entire stock on sale at greatly reduced prices.

Mr. Tribble would have held this sale sooner, but the insurance adjusters have just finished their adjustment of his loss. He states that he is going to sell his entire stock, reserving absolutely nothing, and will buy an entirely new stock of goods after this sale is over.

This sale will include the famous Isaac Hamburger & Sons clothing and the world renowned Regal shoes, and other brands of merchandise as well and favorably known as these. Mr. Tribble states that it is his purpose to give the public the benefit of his settlement with the insurance companies, and that here are bargains to be had in this sale that will be talked of for some time to come.

See the announcement elsewhere in this issue of The Intelligencer.

OBJECTED TO "GRAND OPERA" HORSE COMMITTED SUICIDE

Atlanta, May 13.—A highbrow horse of German sympathies, offended by the trite tunes from Trovators played on an Italian handorgan on Peachtree street, revenged itself by breaking through the plate glass windows of a neighboring phonograph shop and wrecking the complete opera of "Aida," putting its hoofs through the grand march and smashing the "Sacred Names" into a thousand pieces.

After smashing its way into the window the horse trampled and snorted until nothing was left but fragments of the collection of Italian opera records. "The Priests' Assembly" was effectively dispersed, and "Farewell O Earth" was demolished with an appropriate kick skyward.

Incidentally the horse sacrificed its life to its excitement for it was so cut up by the broken pieces of plate glass that it had to be shot.

WHISKEY ADVERTISING FORBIDDEN IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., May 13.—The Alabama supreme court today held constitutional the anti-liquor advertising law recently passed by the legislature. The measure bars liquor advertising from newspapers published or circulated in that State.

ANCIENT FARMERS SOCIETY GATHERS

REGULAR QUARTERLY MEETING
PENDLETON FARMERS
CLUB HELD YESTERDAY

PICNIC DINNER

Two Interesting Addresses Were
Heard After the Report—
New Minutes Wanted.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Pendleton Farmer's Society was held at Pendleton on Thursday. The meeting was an enthusiastic one. Forty-five new members were received into the society.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 10 o'clock by the president, Col. J. C. Stribling, and the regular business of the society was taken up. The new members were elected into full membership of the society and three honorary members were elected. These members are all ladies, being, Miss Maggie Garlington, rural school supervisor of Anderson county; Miss Janie Garlington, canning demonstrator of this county, and Miss Annie McMahon, the rural school supervisor of Oconee county.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that the society have prepared some books containing a history of the society and the names of all members be published in this book. This book will go to press in August and the committees wish all prospective members to have their names in as early as possible. Committees were appointed for Pickens and Oconee counties to solicit members or the society. A committee will be named in Anderson county in a few days.

The society dined at 1 o'clock under the grove of trees surrounding the building. This dinner was one of those old-fashioned country basket picnic dinners.

After dinner two excellent addresses were delivered, one by Mr. D. H. Rawles of the United States government, department of dairying, and the other by Prof. Paul H. Calvert, of Clemson College, livestock department. Both of these talks were well delivered and were enjoyed by the members assembled.

Died White.

All honor to the memory of Alfred Vanderbilt. He could not swim a stroke and he had secured a life belt in preparation for the plunge of the Lusitania, but the boat was sinking rapidly and there came to his side a woman who was helpless and unprovided for. Mr. Vanderbilt unstrapped his belt, gave it to the woman and turned to get another for himself. Before he could accomplish that much, the ship went down and with it at least one man with a gallant soul. When the Titanic sunk, John Jacob Astor was on her decks, having given up the seat he had secured in a life boat by the side of his wife that a woman might take his place and his chance for safety. In each instance a life was unselfishly sacrificed that a woman might live. Deeds of this kind are calculated to make the world think better of the wealthy class. Both Astor and Vanderbilt were suddenly faced with the necessity of deciding if it should be their lives and their gold, or the life of a woman, and in neither case was there an instant's hesitation. These two men furnished examples in the heroics that tend to increase the admiration of the world in the nobility of human nature when the test shall come.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating, and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.

They tell a story of a man in a great city who forgot his own name. He put an ad. in the paper. Within a few hours he was quizzed by so many curious people that he put an ad. in a later edition stating that he wanted to stay lost.
